21st Shodhyatra

Borra to Peddagurvu, Vizag District,
Andhra Pradesh

2nd- 8th June, 2008

Organised by
SRISTI, Ahmedabad
Honeybeeap, Hyderabad

Supported by
National Innovation Foundation, Ahmedabad

The Shodhyatra was organized from 2 to 8th June 2008 by SRISTI, Ahmedabad and Honeybee AP, Hyderabad and supported by NIF, and other local partners viz. TERDS, SAMTA and Adivasi Mitra. It started from Borra and ended in Peddagurvu village in Vizag district of Andhra Pradesh. The Shodhyatra was led by Prof Anil K Gupta, Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad. Nearly seventy people from different walks of life together covered a distance close to hundred kilometers over a period of six days. These included farmers, innovators, students, professionals, artisans, voluntary organization workers, etc. from Gujarat, Maharashtra, Tamilnadu, Karnataka, West Bengal, Jammu & Kashmir, Orissa, Delhi, and Andhra Pradesh in addition people from USA and France also joined this "Shodhyatra" and shared their knowledge with each other.

The region, inhabited by economically poor tribal people, was found to be extremely rich in knowledge. But then market and state have no use for this knowledge, hence deprivation, distress and discontent! Naxalite movement is very strong here and given the economic and social indifference shown by the state, it is not surprising. Mining industry tried to exploit the mineral resources and the local tribals were given no stake in it. The local social organizations like Samta and Terds protested against it and got a stay from highest court against the decision of the state to handover the resources to large corporations without the consent and involvement of the tribals. This region, rich in jackfruits, local nutritiously rich millets, vegetative dyes and herbal pest repellents etc., could be an important source of sustainable technologies that could be distributed in horizontal market (that is from one village to another) and also vertical markets (that is we buy the products made by them). SRISTI plans to invite some of the local tribal communities in this year's Sattvik, the traditional food festival being organized in December at IIMA to puff their nutritiously rich food made of organic materials.

Generally in all the meetings at various villages Prof. A.K. Gupta briefed about the purpose of Shodhyatra and stressed on the importance of the documentation of traditional knowledge before it gets completely lost over a period of time. We also gave a register in each village to elder people or school teacher for documentation of traditional knowledge and making the village knowledge register. We also gave away kits (globe, register etc.) for schools in some villages. Various posters were put up to explain innovations and in the evenings innovation videos were shown to the villagers. Throughout, Brig. Ganesham, coordinator honeybee AP briefed the discussions in telugu along with Mr. Chitti Babu, TERDS, Vizag to the gathering.

The credit for the successful completion of the SY goes to the respective organizations namely TERDS, SAMTA, Adivasi Mitra and especially to Brig. Ganesham , who held all the strings tightly together. The partner organizations were organising such an activity for the first time and despite certain errors (which are in any case expected), put up a good show. A lot of thanks is due to them for understanding the mission of HBN and supporting it too. A special mention is also being made of Mr. Chitti Babu, Setty Nageswar, Kammya, TERDS, Vasant Kumar, Adivasi Mitra for their constant support. The help provided by Mr. Rajeshwar Rao, Matrix biotech, Hyderabad in logistics is also appreciable. Although Jayendra and Bharat got little time to scout but managed well with the help of Pavan, Srinivas and Sudhakar who worked hard on the route despite various problems.

S N	Date	Village	Activities	Venue	Felicitations
1	2-Jun-08	Borra	Welcome note by Mr Devalu, Samata who is working for the upliftment of rural people and tribals of Araku valley and neighbouring areas. He informed shodhyatris about two distinct landmarks judgments related to the upliftment of these people. Samata judgement that prevents the illegal use of land by mine owners and Samata movement that helps the procurement of pattas by villagers from the Govt. Mr Malleshwar Rao from ITDA welcomed all the shodh yatris. He said that he is grateful for Samata's help to these tribal people. He also requested villagers to help the shodh yatris. Mr Ram Babu, a young boy from the borra village, who has become a lawyer requested shodhyatris to help them in making their lives better. The govt doesn't give the pass book to villagers after handing over the pattas which makes it illegal possession for the villagers and because of which the villagers don't get loans. Prof. A.K. Gupta briefed about the purpose of SY, which was translated by Brig. Ganesam in telugu. Sri Appal Naidu, a herbal healer, shared his experience with villagers as well as with shodhyatirs and later he was felicitated by shodhyatris. Representatives/Care Takers of the guides of Borra caves gave a representation to Prof.	Panchayat Borra off.	Dwarapudi Appalanaidu(S.Kota)- Herbal healer
